Welcome to our first newsletter of 2022; we hope you are well.

Following a successful trial last year of our new deadlines throughout the year, we are pleased to announce that it was a great success based on client feedback and we found it gave more time to attend to complexities that arose. Please note the key dates section on the left so you can remind yourself for this year and if you're new to us, we will happily run through this with you when we speak. We will be pleased to start working on the 21/22 self-assessments from April onwards.

QuickBooks

For clients who are using QuickBooks where this is not re-charged by us, you may be paying more than you need to. As a QuickBooks Pro Advisor, we may be able to offer discounts on products so get in touch to find out more.

Covid-19 update

Wherever you are in the UK, you will likely still be living with some restrictions but it is beginning to feel like we might be moving towards something which resembles pre-2020 life! It certainly seems like some features are here to stay and these include online meetings; we are more than happy to continue using Zoom calls at a time convenient to you so don't hesitate to ask if you'd like to arrange a meeting.

*Terms and conditions apply.

Useful tip

Following our suggestion last year of having two bank accounts (personal and business) we strongly recommend, now more than ever, to have a handle on both sets of finances. Now the mayhem and expenditure of Christmas is over, it's a great time to start thinking about budgeting for the year ahead and with gas and electricity prices skyrocketing over the last few months, it is a sensible idea to try to budget for these changes if at all possible. It is better to have more money than month left when the bill comes in than vice-versa. We can support you with suggestions on how to manage your personal budgeting plan if this is something you find difficult or just hadn't really contemplated before.

Finally...

We would like to welcome our new clients and to thank all our clients for their continued support. We are passionate about providing excellent customer service and value for money so if there is something we can do for you then please let us know; we are always happy to listen and help where we can - all our contact details are overleaf.

A small reminder that, should you recommend a new client to us who subsequently asks us to act for them, we will be glad to reward you with £10 Amazon e-voucher as a thank you from us*.

Take care,

Chris and Sarah
